Chief Justice Morrison R. Waite.

The chief judicial officer of the United States arrived in Raleigh on Saturday, and held the session of the United States Circuit Court with Judge Bond yesterday. The nomination of Mr. WAITE, after we had escaped the disgrace of WILLIAMS, and were uncertain what the Presidential mind might have in store for us, gave universal satisfaction, although the merits of the new Chief Justice were not generally known in the South. The fact that he was one of the counsel who represented the Government in the Geneva arbitration, did not carry with it the prestige among our people that it naturally did in higher latitudes. But the cordial endorsement of Judge THURMAN and the general sentiment among the anti-administration organs in Ohio, gave us the gratifying assurance that no bitter partisan had been raised to the seat of MARSHALL, of TANEY and of CHASE.

The decisions of the Chief Justice in Virginia have been heartily approved by the press of that State, and we have no doubt but that the same satisfaction will follow him in North Carolina.

We feel sure also that the honor, due not only to the position but the man, will be paid Chief Justice WAITE while in Raleigh.

Captain Samuel T. Williams, of Nash.

The Democratic Executive Committee for the Sixth Judicial District, in their session in Raleigh on the 2nd of June, tendered the nomination for Solicitor to Capt. SAMUEL T. WILLIAMS, of Nash. We have been waiting to learn definitely of the acceptance of the trust by the gentleman thus honored, before commenting upon the nomination; but as we do not hear that he has declined, we presume he will be our standard bearer. It is needless to say that the Committee could surely find no more chivalric and able leader of the forlorn hope in this desperate and almost hopeless district. Our readers who remember Captain WILLIAMS as the political editor of the News, need no assurance of his capacity; and the courage with which he fought DEWEES in 1868 gave him a reputation co-extensive with the State. While, as we have intimated, with Warren, Halifax and Northampton in the District, the struggle will be against fearful odds, it is only the more incumbent upon the true men of the party, and upon all who favor competency in our public officers, to leave no stone unturned to secure for the nominee the largest vote possible. By a fortunate accident Gen. Cox once carried the District, and let us take care that we shall not have to reproach ourselves with apathy if a like contingency shall again arise, and the party lose the benefit of it. We owe him a united and earnest support. See to it that the District gives it.

The State and the Railroads.

The argument in the case of SWASEY vs. JENKINS, Public Treasurer, the N. C. R. Co., and others, began yesterday. Our readers, as citizens of North Carolina, are deeply interested in the result of the suit, and perhaps a brief statement of its condition will be desirable.

When the North Carolina Railroad was built, the State subscribed three millions to the capital stock of the Company and issued its bonds for that amount. The purpose for which the bonds were issued was stated upon their face, and it was further provided that the Railroad stock which the State should receive in exchange for its bonds should be held as security for those bonds, and the dividends received upon the stock should be applied for the payment of the interest upon the bonds. The right was expressly reserved to mortgage the said stock, if the State should subsequently see fit to do so.

As the stock of the new company paid no dividend, and as any bond of North Carolina was worth par value in the market, or at least not lower than 98 cents, it is not probable that this guaranty added any appreciable value to the bond at the date of its issue. Up to the war the interest was paid regularly, and the State collected what dividends it could from the stock. The war, with all its destruction of property, depreciation of value and paralysis of business, followed, and the State ceased to pay the interest as it fell due. In 1867 an effort was made to fund the debt and to provide for the payment of interest; but the reconstruction acts followed, and the stricken State, bound hand and foot, was handed over to the mercy of the veriest band of plunderers that ever disgraced the name of legislator and the principles of representative government. Bonds were issued to the amount of millions and the proceeds stolen by the thieves in the face of the civilized world. When the Democratic party, after the war, obtained control of the legislative department of the government, the bonds had already been issued and sold, and the Republican Supreme Court had determined that they were valid and binding upon the tax-payers of the State. To provide for paying the interest on either new bonds or old ones was manifestly impossible, unless the whole State should be sold under the hammer of the auctioneer.

In the meanwhile most of the native owners of the N. C. R. R. bonds had been obliged, in the dark days following the war, to sell them, and their ownership had passed for the most part to Northern capitalists.

The North Carolina Railroad was leased to the Richmond & Danville Railroad Company in 1871, and a dividend of six and one half per cent, guaranteed on the four millions of stock, for thirty years. The first dividend was about to be paid into the Treasury of the State, when this suit was instituted by one ANTHONY SWASEY, in behalf of himself and all other owners of the bonds of the State issued to build the road, to cause the dividend to be applied to the payment of the interest then over due upon the bonds; as it was provided in the face of the bonds that such dividend should be the security for the interest. Thus the provision which at first added little if any thing to the selling price of the bond, became its chief value. It must be admitted that from the stand point of our speculative friends in the North, there was much reason in their action. True, they had bought the bonds at low figures, but they were the honest owners of them, and the bonds expressly provided that the States' dividend upon the stock should go to pay their interest.

They triumphed. Hon. S. F. Phillips was appointed Receiver, and the tax-payers of the State had the misfortune to behold the dividend, which they fondly hoped might be applied to the relief of the depleted Treasury, pass into the pockets of Northern bond holders.

At the last term of the Court a motion was made on behalf of the plaintiff, that the stock itself which the State owned in the Railroad, should be sold to pay the interest still remaining unpaid; for the many years default in the payment of the coupons had caused so large an accumulation of interest that the semi-annual dividends did not go far to reduce the amount. This was successfully resisted upon the part of the State, who was thus sought to be deprived of the last remnant of remunerative stock in its possession, upon the ground that only the dividends were pledged to the payment of the interest, and the stock to the payment of the bond when it fell due, which, we believe, will be in 1880.

The case was called up yesterday upon a motion to rehear the motion refused at the last term.

While we do not care to express an opinion upon a matter pending in the court, in common with every citizen of North Carolina, we earnestly hope that the State may yet retain some interest in the great work which she has built; that the control of the North Carolina Railroad may not pass into the hands of those who may so govern it as to render it, instead of a blessing, a positive hindrance to the development of North Carolina. We shall advise our readers of the result.

We propose shortly to give our readers a statement of the present condition and prospects of the suit instituted by SELF.

Mrs. Bread, of Sullivan county.

Mr. Sawyer, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

His departure, like that of Solicitor Bantfield, was "purely voluntary." That is to say, he was metaphorically kicked out.

New York society is disgusted with Parisian French as they pronounce it, and consequently they pronounce him a very "commune sort of a fellow, anyhow."

The little girl who has "roped" her way to glory is a daughter of Dennis Maloney, of Rensselaer, who jumped 235 times and then died.

Illinois Republicans appear to be a great deal frightened by the conference of German and Democratic editors, held in Chicago a few days ago. They are afraid it means a coalition between all of the anti-administration elements—the farmers, the Germans and Democrats—and they see in such a union nothing but inevitable defeat. The Illinois State Register (Dem.), whose editor was present at the conference, thus indicates that the Republicans have good grounds for their fears: "Assuming, as we do, that all who find cause of complaint in the present financial and political condition of the country are honest in their opposition to the Republican party, we see no reason to doubt that a coalition will be formed by the Democrats, the farmers, the anti-monopolists and the Germans, for whom Mr. Hesling speaks." What the farmers will do at their convention cannot be foretold, as there is a noticeable lack of "log-rolling" in their ranks. Their independent spirit is thus illustrated by the Rock Island Argus: "It is too early to talk about candidates, and the Democrats see what the independent platform is to be. If it means the popular view, the people will soon develop their wants as to candidates. It is our belief that any man who figures for a nomination will not get it, and ought not to get it. Let the people indicate their wishes unbiased by the personal wishes of anybody."

Resolutions Adopted by the State Executive Committee of the Democratic-Conservative Party—Plan of Organization.

The State Executive Committee of the Democratic-Conservative party, held in this city on April the 18th, adopted the following resolutions and plan of organization. We give our hearty endorsement to the resolutions, and hope the recommendations to discourage all manner of disorganization in our ranks will be carried out to the fullest extent. We cannot have any independent action this Summer if we would succeed:

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the people of the West in their want of railroad facilities, and pledge ourselves to use every available means to secure the early completion of their projected lines.

Resolved, That the Republican party having despoiled the State of millions of dollars heretofore appropriated for railroad purposes, is unworthy of public confidence, and that experience justifies the conclusion that if that party should be again entrusted with the administration of our internal improvements, its leaders would again prove recreant to their sacred trust, and would divert the public funds to their private purposes.

Resolved, That a wise policy dictates the adoption of such measures as may be necessary to increase the educational advantages of the children of North Carolina.

Resolved, That we earnestly recommend to the members of the Democratic-Conservative party to discourage independent candidates and all other disorganizers, and that all support be promptly withdrawn from every aspirant for office who shall oppose the regular nominees of our conventions.

Resolved, That we tender to the friends of Free Government our sincere congratulations at the triumph of the great principle of the Constitution as illustrated by the Democratic successes in the recent State and local elections.

PLAN OF ORGANIZATION.

The following plan of organization of the Democratic-Conservative party was adopted:

1. The Executive Committee for the State shall consist of at present appointed, and shall have all the powers heretofore conferred upon it.

2. The Executive Committee for the Congressional and Judicial Districts shall consist of at present constituted, until regularly changed, and shall have general supervision of the affairs of the party in their respective districts.

3. In each county there shall be an Executive Committee composed of a Central Committee of not less than three members, and of at least one Committeeman from each township. This Committee shall, under direction of the County Convention, have entire control of county matters. It shall be their duty to see that all the details of the canvass are properly conducted; that the polls are attended by competent challengers, that each Conservative casts his ballot, and that no fraud is perpetrated at the election. They are particularly enjoined to take the necessary steps for the efficient organization of townships, and to seek by a wise administration to promote harmony and to inspire confidence.

4. All Executive Committees are properly chosen by the Conventions held for the respective territorial divisions; but if for any cause there should be a failure by the proper Convention to appoint an Executive Committee, then the State Executive Committee may supply the deficiency.

5. Nominations for County officers and members of the General Assembly shall be made by County Conventions; for Town and Township officers, by town and township conventions; for members of Congress and Judicial officers by the District Conventions.

6. All Conventions shall be open, and due notice of the time and place of convening the same shall be given. The resignation of Col. Walter Clark, as a member of the Executive Committee on account of his removal from Halifax, was read and accepted, and Dr. H. E. T. Manning, of Weldon, was appointed to fill the vacancy, after which the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That this Committee adjourn to meet again in this city on the 10th day of June next, and that all the members be requested to attend.

Cotton States' Agricultural Congress.

ATLANTA, GA., June 5th, 1874. Raleigh Daily News.

The Cotton States' Agricultural Congress assembled in this large and flourishing city on Tuesday, and adjourned yesterday afternoon sine die.

The following delegates from North Carolina were present: Dr. Columbus Mills, Col. J. L. Bridges, Gen. D. H. Hill, J. H. Powell, B. F. Hooks, A. Graves, P. C. Carlton, Dr. G. W. Graham, Capt. R. T. Fulghum, W. J. Woodward, G. W. Nason, Jr., J. E. Nash and Jordan Stone.

The meeting of this body of gentlemen, representing the different cotton States of the South, was for the purpose of perfecting a permanent organization, which should hold annual meetings and discuss only such questions as directly affect the interests of the cotton States, the representation in this Congress to be strictly confined to these States.

The necessity of such an organization is patent. Unless the planters in these cotton States help themselves, they will be unable to solve the problem in which their destinies are involved. The subjects which appeared of vital importance and were more thoroughly discussed than any others, were statistics, immigration and direct trade. Reports were presented on crop statistics and referred to a special committee consisting of one delegate from each State.

Col. J. L. Bridges, Dr. G. W. Graham and E. K. F. Fulghum were appointed a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws for the Congress, the report to be made at the next meeting.

J. E. Nash, E. M. Holt, H. T. Guidry of North Carolina and Enoch Steadman, of Georgia, were appointed a committee to prepare a report on Cotton Factories for the next Congress.

which is now organized and chartered by the State Legislature of Georgia, whose charter we herewith submit for your favorable consideration, and besides that, we submit the draft of a plan that presents and contains a brief synopsis of operations, and which will not interfere with the first plan as herewith submitted, and we would ask your careful consideration of both of these plans and leave it with you to give such directions looking to the perfection of one or both of these, as your wisdom may direct, after careful consideration.

(Signed,) W. MAXWELL, Chairman.

This report was adopted. The report in reference to inducing immigration was adopted.

Mr. Fulton, of Georgia, offered the following:

Resolved, That we recommend the hiring and wages system in the currenting of labor on our farms and plantations as more conducive to our interest and success than the crop or share system.

In support of the resolution Col. Fulton made a long speech, in which he opposed the encouragement of immigration; that is, he opposed any immigration that was not purely voluntary. When he had taken his seat, Mr. S. J. Harrington, of Alabama, in support of the measure one of the most forcible and earnest speeches which it has been our good fortune to listen to. He stated that he regarded it as the most important question which could possibly occupy the attention of the South. He then went on to give an array of facts which had come under his own knowledge in Texas and North Alabama, which were overwhelming in their force and effect upon the Convention. In a county of Alabama, the railroad company owned over three hundred thousand acres of unoccupied and therefore valueless land. The company offered to an enterprising citizen a third interest in these lands if he would undertake to improve and settle them. He accepted the proposition on these terms; that they would first establish a depot, that they would then contract to allow all incoming freight to be carried at a discount of 20 per cent., that all outgoing freight should have a discount of 50 per cent., that they should then bridge all the important streams leading to that depot, and when this was done, then to present to the county the railroad company, and in less than twelve months there were over three hundred houses erected at the depot, more than two hundred farmers, worthy Germans, had moved into the county, and forty-six thousand acres of this valuable land had been sold and mapped into farms. The speech was brimful of sense, and we think, without a change in the views of Colonel Fulton.

Mr. George W. Adams, who had previously spoken warmly in advocacy of the measure, stated that in a small neighborhood on the Georgia railroad, where but a few years ago land was sold at eight dollars per acre, it was now selling at from sixty to one hundred and fifty, and what was this owing to, he could tell, where there was but one family then, there were now, besides one, the best schools in the South. That the fame of Kirkwood had gone abroad. That the tax returns in the small county of DeKalb would show an increase in the past three years of over $200,000.

The President of the Congress, suspended the regular business of Congress on the appearance of Gen. D. H. Hill, of South Carolina, and said: "I see in the body one of her most distinguished and earnest sons, the great soldier, General D. H. Hill, of North Carolina, who had literally changed the sword into the pruning hook. He requested him to take the chair, as the skill which he had displayed in leading his army would surely make it easy to govern an assembly of peace."

General Hill respectfully but firmly declined, saying that his want of familiarity with parliamentary rules would prevent his accepting the honor so courteously tendered. General Hill knew well by experience that it was much easier to manage an army than to choke off aspirants for oratorical display from consuming the valuable time of deliberative bodies.

Capt. Fulghum in behalf of the North Carolina Agricultural Society, the Board of Trade of Raleigh, North Carolina, and Messrs. Heck and Labank, of Lockville, N. C., extended an invitation to the Congress to hold their next session in the city of Raleigh, N. C. This invitation was extended in a happy manner, and with the promises of a hearty good will, was accepted. The time was no other chance for the Congress to do otherwise than to accept the invitation, which was done by a unanimous vote.

Col. J. L. Bridges, Dr. G. W. Graham and E. K. F. Fulghum were appointed a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws for the Congress, the report to be made at the next meeting.

J. E. Nash, E. M. Holt, H. T. Guidry of North Carolina and Enoch Steadman, of Georgia, were appointed a committee to prepare a report on Cotton Factories for the next Congress.

After the usual resolutions of the Convention adjourned to meet in Raleigh, North Carolina, in July, 1875.

Some of the delegates from North Carolina left for their homes this morning. Four Mr. Stone left this forenoon for Alabama, and the remainder of the delegation will leave to-night on the Atlantic Air Line. We have all enjoyed our trip very much, and formed many pleasant acquaintances, many of them promising to be at Raleigh next year. Our delegation was the second in number, and all acknowledged North Carolina carried the day.
